

BE BOLD. Shape the Future.
College of Agricultural, Consumer and Environmental Sciences
Cooperative Extension Service
Rio Arriba County Extension Office

Fruit Preservation Workshop at Los Luceros Historic Site

Join us Wednesday, September 23rd at 10am

for a hands-on workshop creating fresh fruit jams and jelly. Learn the science behind food preservation and take part in boiling water bath canning.. The workshop will be held at the kitchen on the property of Los Luceros.

Please call 505-578-4523 or email Joy at: jczmyrid@nmsu.edu to sign-up.

Cost is $5.00. Class size is limited.

Please bring an apron and please wear close toed shoes.

Fresh fruit, timeless flavor

If you are an individual with a disability who is in need of an auxiliary aid or service to participate, please contact Joy in advance at (505) 578-4523 or jczmyrid@nmsu.edu

New Mexico State University is an equal opportunity employer and educator.
NMSU and the U.S. Department of Agriculture cooperating.