Getting to Know You!

Knowing special things about people can help start conversations!

Cut and fold this sheet to make a pocket book. Then ask group members to write their initials "by something that fits them in your book. Try to get initials on every line.

Next time you see each of these friends, ask a friendly question about the thing he or she signed!

DIY Family Hand Prints

This is a great DIY project to get the entire family involved. Plus, it will make a wonderful keepsake that you'll look back on for years to come.

So what do you have to do? It's easy... First, collect your family.

Drawing paper would work well for this, but you can also choose to use a pre-hung canvas that you can get at any craft store. You'll need to choose a few paint colors. Either craft paint or acrylic would work well and make for easy clean-up.

Next, gather your family. Measure hand size, who has the biggest hand? Who has the smallest hand? Hands will be stamped biggest to smallest. Spread your first color on the largest hand and stamp hand onto paper. Let dry. Next smaller hand, Repeat and let dry. Then follow-up with the smaller one(s). Let dry and Wha-La! You're ready to frame. Then just find a space on the wall to hang your one-of-a-kind creation that you'll enjoy forever.
